Fulbright Suggests Ike Put Off Visit To Japan

Senators Voice Concern Over Possible Risk

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) said Monday night he thought it might be wise for President Eisenhower to consider delaying his scheduled visit to Japan in view of anti-American demonstrations there.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, suggested that "perhaps the President might agree with the Japanese government to defer his visit until around October."

Fulbright expressed this view to a reporter as several other senators voiced some concern about the trip.

Fulbright's committee arranged to hear Secretary of State Christian A. Herter at a public hearing Tuesday in support of U.S. ratification of the new U.S.-Japanese security treaty, against which left-wing elements in Japan have been demonstrating.

"I don't have any private information on the situation in Japan," Fulbright said. "I was told some time back the reports of anti-treaty sentiment and of demonstrations against the President's visit were greatly exaggerated."

"But the more I read it looks like a very serious situation. I wouldn't be surprised if it might be wise to defer the visit until some time in the fall. With Congress nearing adjournment and the amount of legislation that will await the President's action within the next few weeks, that might be a good reason for delay."

Fulbright, like Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), assistant Senate majority leader, said he was not giving advice to the President and that the decision was one for him to make in consultation with the Japanese government.

Truman Raps Red Boss For Attack On Ike

Former President Says He Vetted Idea Of Spy Plane Flights

CHICAGO (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said Monday night "the brutal and the boorish tirade" against President Eisenhower by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is "an offense to the whole free world."

And he suggested that "certain people would be wise to avoid criticizing our country in a manner and in language that would fortify Khrushchev in the belief that there is approval here for his devilish campaign to divide us."

Truman did not say whom he meant by "certain people."

Truman told a dinner session of publishers and booksellers the world is "in serious trouble," and added: "I would be the last to want to discourage debate on any of the issues. But in the field of foreign policy there is no room for irresponsible talk, especially at a time when the nation is being subjected to new provocations and attacks from the Kremlin."

"The brutal and boorish tirade by Khrushchev directed at the person of the President of the United States has the sinister purpose of undermining the prestige of the office of the President in the eyes of the world."

Earlier, Truman disclosed that while he was president he turned down a suggestion that the United States send spy planes over Communist territory.

"I didn't think it was right," he told a news conference. He added that "espionage is a dirty business and I didn't want to be a part of it."

Truman, 76, however, declined to express an opinion on President Eisenhower's role in the recent U2 spy plane incident.

Truman said the idea of sending spy planes over the Soviet Union and Red China was sent to him in 1949 or 1950 from the State Department.

He said, "the secretary of state and I turned it down. I thought it wasn't necessary, and I still think so."

Missile Base Machinists Strike

Sheriff's deputies and a highway patrolman keep an eye on striking machinists as they pass out pamphlets at a picket line established on a road leading to the Missile Test Center at Cape Canaveral, Fla. About 1,500 members of Local 610 of the International Association of Machinists went on strike yesterday in a wage dispute with Convair Astronautics, which makes the Atlas missile. Other Atlas bases and plants across the country also were affected. Many other Cape Canaveral unions honored the IAM lines. (AP Photofax)

IAM Picket Lines Set Up At Key Bases

Machinists Vote On Quickie Walkouts At Convair Plants

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Machinists Monday struck key bases that test intercontinental Atlas missiles and would fire them in case of war.

They voted this morning at a mass meeting here on whether to call quickie strikes at the plants that make them. The count will be announced later. A union leader recommended against any industrywide walkout, saying it would be too costly.

The midnight walkout by the International Assn. of Machinists was aimed at the Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp., maker of Atlas and other defense items. Atlas is the nation's only operational long-range missile.

It was the first major work stoppage in troubled labor negotiations in the aircraft-missile industry. Other strikes could follow that would tie up a majority of the industry's plants.

Picket Lines Go Up

Picket lines went up outside Convair facilities coast to coast, including:

The Atlantic Missile Range at Cape Canaveral, Fla., where missiles and launch-detection satellites are test-fired and improved.

Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., site of the only combat-ready Atlas launch pads.

Warren AFB, Wyo., and Offutt AFB, Neb., where Atlas launch sites are nearing completion.

Holloman AFB, N.M., where local issues are involved.

A spokesman at Vandenberg said the strike would not affect the West Coast base's ability to launch combat missiles, because its operational pads are manned by service men. But industry observers pointed out that prolonged picketing could keep sympathetic union workers from serving and maintaining missiles and launching facilities.

1,500 Idle At Canaveral

At Cape Canaveral, the Air Force said approximately 1,500 of 1,900 IAM members are idle because of the strike. This number includes employees of Convair, Boeing, Lockheed, Douglas and Air Products—all of which reported absenteeism ranging from 25 to 100 per cent among IAM personnel.

The strike is aimed primarily at Convair, but employees of other companies are respecting the picket lines at all the missile bases.

At the Cape, the Air Force said many building tradesmen honored IAM picket lines and as a result, work slowed on construction for Saturn and Centaur space-rocket launch facilities and on launch pads being built for the solid-fuel Minuteman ICBM.

No launchings have been delayed, however, and none are likely to be unless the strike continues for several days.

New Quakes Jolt Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Two strong earthquakes shook the southern Chilean provinces of Concepcion and Magallanes at 1:54 a.m. Monday, causing panic in a number of towns but no damage. The Ministry of Information said the quake was felt throughout southern Chile.

Socialists File Resignations In Japan Crisis

TOKYO (AP)—All the 125 Socialist members of the lower house are set now to drop out of Parliament in a last-ditch attempt to block ratification of the new U.S.-Japan security treaty.

The Socialists handed their written resignations Monday to the party chairman, Inejiro Asanuma, with the hope of toppling of Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's government and cancellation of President Eisenhower's projected June 19-22 visit as related aims.

Asanuma is to file the resignations with the speaker of the 467-seat house, dominated by Conservative followers of Kishi, whenever he sees fit. The husky, gravel-voiced chairman said he will do so "at an opportune time."

The idea of the mass resignation of the Socialists displeased their Communist allies in the fight against the treaty, but won approval from an emergency convention of the Japan Socialist party.

The violently anti-American Akahata (Red Flag), the official organ of Japanese Communists, declared the resignations were negative and defeatist. It said the house was a battlefield which the deputies should not desert. The one Communist in the house is keeping his seat.

Japanese ratification of the treaty, approved by the house at a session boycotted by Socialists, is effective automatically June 19 unless Kishi dissolves Parliament before then and calls for new elections. It still awaits confirmation in the U.S. Senate.

Kishi has made clear that he intends to hold onto the reins of government. And Cabinet Secretary Etsusaburo Shiina reiterated Monday that there are no plans to postpone Eisenhower's visit, officially as the guest of Emperor Hirohito.

The Socialists' hope is that the rising leftist pressure, dramatized by the resignations, will bring a majority of the public to their side.

Dixie Counties Asked To Open Voting Records

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Justice Department Monday called on four more southern counties to open their voting records for inspection so the FBI can determine whether Negroes have been denied their suffrage rights.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers asked election officials in Clarendon and Hampton counties, S.C., Sumter County, Ala., and Fayette County, Ga., to bare their registration and voting statistics. He acted under the 1960 Civil Rights Act.

Shortly afterward, Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones issued a temporary injunction in Montgomery, Ala., blocking an examination of the records in Sumter or any other Alabama county. The order was sought by the Alabama attorney general's office.

Eichmann Gave Up Voluntarily, Israel Reports

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI)—The Israeli government has admitted that accused Nazi mass murderer Adolf Eichmann was tracked down in Argentina but denied that he was kidnapped by Israeli secret agents, it was disclosed Monday in an official Israeli note.

Israel claimed Eichmann agreed to leave Argentina with a group of Jewish volunteers to go to Israel to face a court.

Israel gave its version of the capture of Eichmann, who has been accused of murdering six million Jews during the Hitler regime, in a note delivered to the Argentine foreign ministry.

Following persistent reports that Eichmann had been "kidnaped" from Argentina and whisked off to Israel, the Argentine government had requested an explanation from the government of Premier David Ben-Gurion.

The note said that Eichmann was discovered living in Argentina under an assumed name and with forged identity papers by Jewish volunteers after a 15-year search through Europe, the Arab countries and Latin America.

It said the Jewish volunteers first contacted Eichmann and asked him if he was ready to stand trial in Israel with all legal guarantees. It said Eichmann asked for 24 hours to think it over and then agreed to leave Argentina.

The note said the group took Eichmann out of Argentina and delivered him to members of the Israeli security organization.

Ben-Gurion announced the capture of Eichmann to a surprised parliament—and world—on May 23. But until Monday, details of his apprehension were kept secret.

Britain To Get Skybolt Missile

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States agreed Monday to furnish Britain with the Skybolt air-launched ballistic missile when it is developed.

This arrangement was announced by the British minister of defense, Harold Watkinson, and Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. after a week's discussions.

The agreement, set forth in a "minute of understanding," confirmed an informal arrangement made last March between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The British government then dropped work on its own Blue Streak ballistic missile and indicated interest in the Skybolt, now under development for the U.S. Air Force as a 1,000 to 1,200-mile missile scheduled to be ready for use in 1964.

The Pentagon announcement said the two defense ministers confirmed the arrangements made in general terms between the President and Prime Minister "for cooperation in the development of Skybolt with a view to supplies being bought for the Royal Air Force when production takes place."

Bond Exchange Offer Is Made By Treasury

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury said Monday it will offer up to $½ billion dollars of new notes and bonds in exchange for a big issue of older bonds maturing late next year.

This will mark the first time that the government has made advance refunding of this kind under legislation passed last fall.

The advance swap offer is being made to holders of $11,177,132,000 of 2½ per cent bonds maturing Nov. 15, 1961.

The owners of these securities will have from June 8 through June 13 to signify whether they are willing to exchange their holdings for either a new four-year, 3½ per cent note or a new eight-year, 3 per cent bond.

The department said it will issue up to $3,850,000,000 of the new notes and up to $1,650,000,000 of the new bonds.

Both of the new issues will be dated from June 23. The notes will mature May 15, 1964 and the bonds on May 15, 1968.

Until Congress voted special legislation last September, this type of advance exchange was prohibited because of tax considerations. The new law defers the tax effect of the transactions until the investor disposes of the securities accepted in exchange.

Talks Broken Off In Actors' Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—The League of New York Theaters Monday night broke off negotiations with Actors Equity, dashing hopes for an early settlement of a labor dispute that has blacked out Broadway theaters.

David Merrick, a spokesman for the producers, said the negotiations were "hopelessly deadlocked."

Merrick told reporters, "I regret to say after all these weeks of negotiations, although we have found ways of meeting the Equity demands for a pension plan, Equity countered with demands in minimum salaries and rehearsal pay virtually the same as demands made last April."

Early Monday a new compromise pension plan had raised hopes of an early agreement in the dispute between the producers and Equity that has closed all 22 of the Broadway shows.

Negro Singer To Wed Blonde Swedish Star

LONDON (AP)—Sammy Davis Jr. and blonde maid Britt announced Monday night they plan to marry soon and raise a large family.

"And I don't care," said Davis, "if the children are polka dot."

The diminutive Negro entertainer and the tall shapely Swedish movie star declared their intentions at a crowded hotel news conference.

It was no surprise even though Miss Britt's divorce to American actor Eddie Gregson is not final until Sept. 28. Sammy, billed in cabaret here as "Mr. Wonderful" (the title of a Broadway show he did) breezily admitted that he does not expect everyone to like the idea.

"People don't have to agree—that's their prerogative," he said. "I don't want everyone to agree—I just want to be left in peace."

Davis once said that as a Jewish Negro with one eye he has all the handicaps he can handle. He lost an eye a few years ago in a California road accident. Although Davis is a convert to the Jewish faith, Miss Britt said she would not follow him in this.

Davis expounded at the news conference on prejudice.

"I'm liable to prejudice every time I walk out of the front door," he said.

"But I'm not shaking in my shoes about my career."

"Because if it's so flimsy that it could be ruined by marriage then it's not worth having."

Cardinal Bea Heads Unity Secretariat

VATICAN CITY (AP)—German-born Cardinal Bea was appointed by Pope John XXIII Monday to head a special Christian unity secretariat for keeping Protestants and others informed of the work of the forthcoming ecumenical council.

The 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church has said the worldwide council, first in nearly a century, is aimed at leading toward eventual unity of all Christian forces.

He said Saturday the secretariat now headed by Cardinal Bea would be specifically assigned to the task of helping Protestants and other non-Catholic Christians "follow the work of the council and to find more easily the path" to Christian unity.

Doctor Slain By Colleague

ELIZABETH, N.J. (UPI)—A 37-year-old doctor, enraged by his dismissal as a hospital anesthetist, Monday shot and killed another physician and wounded the chief of his department with a shotgun in the hospital parking lot.

Dr. Annunzio La Face, 34, died about an hour and a half after he and Dr. Francis B. Merlo, 50, were attacked outside St. Elizabeth's Hospital by Dr. Anthony Ruvoilo, police said.

Police said Ruvoilo had been waiting in the parking lot for Merlo, the chief of the hospital's anesthesia department who had fired Ruvoilo earlier in the day. La Face was also one of Merlo's assistants in the department.

Shot in the groin, La Face died after emergency surgery and transfusions of blood plasma, the hospital said.

Merlo was only nicked in the finger by a bullet. He left the hospital after treatment.

Cubans Applaud Ike

HAVANA (AP)—President Eisenhower is still popular with many Cubans. A Sunday audience at a movie theater here applauded loudly when Eisenhower appeared in a newsreel. Those present said the applause was greater than his picture received earlier in the same theater.

Woodman, 70, Fights Off Bear With Fists, Knife

ENGADINE, Mich. (AP)—A 70-year-old woodman fought hand to claw with an angry mother bear for 20 minutes in an Upper Michigan forest.

Arthur Le Gault saved himself from being mauled to death Sunday because he happened to be carrying a jackknife.

Brutally scratched, with two teeth clawed out and a muscle torn from his right arm, Le Gault fought with his fists before he remembered he had a knife in his pocket.

"I kept jabbing at the bear's eyes with the knife and finally she let loose of me and ran away," said Le Gault, a pulpwood cutter in Upper Michigan woods for the past 50 years.

Le Gault, who lives near Engadine on the edge of a forest, went out to look over timber for cutting.

He spotted a medium size black bear and decided he would return home immediately. Le Gault had a scuffle with a bear several years ago. But he was armed with a rifle then and killed the bear.

"The bear attacked me from behind," he said. "She took me by surprise and kept clawing away at me. I hit her on the nose with my fist but she stood up on her hind legs and kept up the attack."

After beating off the bear, Le Gault, although weakened by loss of blood, walked a mile and a quarter to his home. His son, Thomas, drove him to Tahquamenon General Hospital in Newberry.

Graduates Overcome Polio, Blindness, Age Handicaps

By The Associated Press

Neither polio, nor blindness, nor age and economic handicaps have stayed these knowledge-thirsty students from gaining scholastic recognition.

Take Marjorie O'Brien, 25. She is a polio victim and has lived in an iron lung or wheel chair since 1955.

Marjorie will get a bachelor of science degree from the Boston College of Nursing next Monday.

A night nurse, Marjorie was asked how she was able to persevere through the academic and hospital training routine.

"By the grace of God, my wonderful classmates—and the policeman on the beat," she replied.

Officer Joe Mazzucchelli met her every day when she drove up to school in her car, and lifted her into the wheel chair.

At Hartford, Conn., Sunday, sightless Frederick W. Moeckel, 30, received his master's degree in education from the University of Hartford. "I'm going to do something with my life, blind or not," Moeckel said.

Moeckel's sight had faded almost to the vanishing point when he graduated from Hartford Art School a year ago, and he had to change his plans for teaching art. He now hopes to teach either English or music appreciation.

Noel E. Holsman, 55, retired as an Army warrant officer and enrolled in Lewis & Clark College in Portland, Ore.

He received his degree Sunday, the end of a four-year course that was interrupted for 24 years. The depression stopped his college work in 1934.

Alice McLeod quit high school as a sophomore, when she was 16.

"I knew the stereotype that people had of teen-agers who got married," she said Sunday at Royal Oak, Mich. "I was determined that the stereotype was not going to apply to me."

Now 21, with a husband and three children, she has finished high school and has an all-expense scholarship to Michigan State University.

She attended night classes for three years while taking care of her growing family. Her husband, who reads water meters in Royal Oak, a Detroit suburb, helped with household chores on school nights.

This Saturday, polio-crippled Robert Mitchell, 43, who "attended classes" by radio-telephone, will be graduated from C. W. Post College of Long Island University—and with high honors.

Mitchell, a former airman, actually took the three-year course from his home at Glen Cove. He is confined to a wheel chair, but he's going to make a trip to the campus to get his bachelor of arts degree magna cum laude.

Two grandchildren watched Ornel E. Andrus, an engineer from Milwaukee, Wis., receive a doctor's degree in chemical engineering from the University of Wisconsin Monday.

The 60-year-old Andrus was the oldest person ever to receive such an advanced degree from the university.

Tribute Paid Allied Dead On Anniversary Of D-Day

BAYEUX, France (AP)—Veterans, soldiers and aging war veterans braved cold rains and gray skies Monday to walk the Normandy beaches where the greatest amphibious landing in history took place 16 years ago.

Stray wreckage of the war still dots famed Omaha and Utah beaches and the towns that bore the brunt of the invasion which began the liberation of Europe.

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville led the French delegation that toured the beaches, the American cemetery and other battle sites, all now marked by monuments.

Sir Richard Gale, now deputy Allied European commander and on D-Day the commander of the British 6th Airborne Division, led the British contingent to the monument at Ranville, which claims to be the first village liberated—a claim that is disputed on the battleground area where British and American paratroops tumbled down 16 years ago.

Flanked by American, British and French military attaches and veterans' delegations, Couve de Murville spoke at Bayeux, the town liberated by British forces June 7.

"In the name of the government, I salute these Allied soldiers fallen on this land of France, by the side of our own, in the defense of our common ideals," Couve de Murville said. "May the memory of all the sacrifices then accepted remain for us all a lesson and an example which we still need to face the duties and dangers which still face us."

Despite wind and rain sweeping the Normandy peninsula, bands of veterans tramped the now-green countryside, seeking fields where they fought, or the graves of comrades.

The violently anti-American Akahata (Red Flag), the official organ of Japanese Communists, declared the resignations were negative and defeatist. It said the house was a battlefield which the deputies should not desert. The one Communist in the house is keeping his seat.

Japanese ratification of the treaty, approved by the house at a session boycotted by Socialists, is effective automatically June 19 unless Kishi dissolves Parliament before then and calls for new elections. It still awaits confirmation in the U.S. Senate.

Kishi has made clear that he intends to hold onto the reins of government. And Cabinet Secretary Etsusaburo Shima reiterated Monday that there are no plans to postpone Eisenhower's visit, officially as the guest of Emperor Hirohito.

The Socialists' hope is that the rising leftist pressure, dramatized by the resignations, will bring a majority of the public to their side.

Dixie Counties Asked To Open Voting Records

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department Monday called on four more southern counties to open their voting records for inspection so the FBI can determine whether Negroes have been denied their suffrage rights.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers asked election officials in Clarendon and Hampton counties, S.C., Sumter County, Ala., and Fayette County, Ga., to bare their registration and voting statistics. He acted under the 1960 Civil Rights Act.

Shortly afterward, Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones issued a temporary injunction in Montgomery, Ala., blocking an examination of the records in Sumter or any other Alabama county. The order was sought by the Alabama attorney general's office.

Britain To Get Skybolt Missile

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States agreed Monday to furnish Britain with the Skybolt air-launched ballistic missile when it is developed.

This arrangement was announced by the British minister of defense, Harold Watkinson, and Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. after a week's discussions.

The agreement, set forth in a "minute of understanding," confirmed an informal arrangement made last March between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The British government then dropped work on its own Blue Streak ballistic missile and indicated interest in the Skybolt, now under development for the U.S. Air Force as a 1,000 to 1,200-mile missile scheduled to be ready for use in 1964.

The Pentagon announcement said the two defense ministers confirmed the arrangements made in general terms between the President and Prime Minister "for cooperation in the development of Skybolt with a view to supplies being bought for the Royal Air Force when production takes place."

Eichmann Gave Up Voluntarily, Israel Reports

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI)—The Israeli government has admitted that accused Nazi mass murderer Adolf Eichmann was tracked down in Argentina but denied that he was kidnapped by Israeli secret agents, it was disclosed Monday in an official Israeli note.

Israel claimed Eichmann agreed to leave Argentina with a group of Jewish volunteers to go to Israel to face a court.

Israel gave its version of the capture of Eichmann, who has been accused of murdering six million Jews during the Hitler regime, in a note delivered to the Argentine foreign ministry.

Following persistent reports that Eichmann had been "kidnaped" from Argentina and whisked off to Israel, the Argentine government had requested an explanation from the government of Premier David Ben-Gurion.

The note said that Eichmann was discovered living in Argentina under an assumed name and with forged identity papers by Jewish volunteers after a 15-year search through Europe, the Arab countries and Latin America.

It said the Jewish volunteers first contacted Eichmann and asked him if he was ready to stand trial in Israel with all legal guarantees. It said Eichmann asked for 24 hours to think it over and then agreed to leave Argentina.

The note said the group took Eichmann out of Argentina and delivered him to members of the Israeli security organization.

Ben-Gurion announced the capture of Eichmann to a surprised parliament—and world — on May 23. But until Monday, details of his apprehension were kept secret.

Tribute Paid Allied Dead On Anniversary Of D-Day

BAYEUX, France (AP)—Statesmen, soldiers and aging war veterans braved cold rains and gray skies Monday to walk the Normandy beaches where the great amphibious landing in history took place 16 years ago.

Stray wreckage of the war still dots famed Omaha and Utah beaches and the towns that bore the brunt of the invasion which began the liberation of Europe.

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville led the French delegation that toured the beaches, the American cemetery and other battle sites, all now marked by monuments.

Sir Richard Gale, now deputy Allied European commander and on D-Day the commander of the British 6th Airborne Division, led the British contingent to the monument at Ranville, which claims to be the first village liberated—a claim that is disputed on the battleground area where British and American paratroops tumbled down 16 years ago.

Flanked by American, British and French military attaches and veterans' delegations, Couve de

IAM Picket Lines Set Up At Key Bases

Machinists Vote On Quickie Walkouts At Convair Plants

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Machinists Monday struck key bases that test intercontinental Atlas missiles and would fire them in case of war.

They voted this morning at a mass meeting here on whether to call quickie strikes at the plants that make them. The count will be announced later. A union leader recommended against any industrywide walkout, saying it would be too costly.

The midnight walkout by the International Assn. of Machinists was aimed at the Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp., maker of Atlas and other defense items. Atlas is the nation's only operational long-range missile.

It was the first major work stoppage in troubled labor negotiations in the aircraft-missile industry. Other strikes could follow that would tie up a majority of the industry's plants.

Picket Lines Go Up

Picket lines went up outside Convair facilities coast to coast, including:

The Atlantic Missile Range at Cape Canaveral, Fla., where missiles and launch-detection satellites are test-fired and improved.

Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., site of the only combat-ready Atlas launch pads.

Warren AFB, Wyo., and Offutt AFB, Neb., where Atlas launch sites are nearing completion.

Holloman AFB, N.M., where local issues are involved.

A spokesman at Vandenberg said the strike would not affect the West Coast base's ability to launch combat missiles, because its operational pads are manned by service men. But industry observers pointed out that prolonged picketing could keep sympathetic union workers from serving and maintaining missiles and launching facilities.

1,500 Idle At Canaveral

At Cape Canaveral, the Air Force said approximately 1,500 of 1,900 IAM members are idle because of the strike. This number includes employees of Convair, Boeing, Lockheed, Douglas and Air Products—all of which reported absenteeism ranging from 25 to 100 per cent among IAM personnel.

The strike is aimed primarily at Convair, but employees of other companies are respecting the picket lines at all the missile bases.

At the Cape, the Air Force said many building tradesmen honored IAM picket lines and as a result, work slowed on construction for Saturn and Centaur space-rocket launch facilities and on launch pads being built for the solid-fuel Minuteman ICBM.

No launchings have been delayed, however, and none are likely to be unless the strike continues for several days.

New Quakes Jolt Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Two strong earthquakes shook the southern Chilean provinces of Concepcion and Magallanes at 1:54 a.m. Monday, causing panic in a number of towns but no damage. The Ministry of Information said the quake was felt throughout southern Chile.

Murville spoke at Bayeux, the town liberated by British forces June 7.

"In the name of the government, I salute these Allied soldiers fallen on this land of France, by the side of our own, in the defense of our common ideals," Couve de Murville said. "May the memory of all the sacrifices then accepted remain for us all a lesson and an example which we still need to face the duties and dangers which still face us."

Despite wind and rain sweeping the Normandy peninsula, bands of veterans tramped the now-green countryside, seeking fields where they fought, or the graves of comrades.

Jobless Checks By Mail Ruled Out By Sybert

BALTIMORE (AP) — Although the Department of Employment Security is not specifically prohibited from mailing checks to the jobless, the attorney general said Monday it cannot do it.

C. Ferdinand Sybert advised the Board of Public Works that the check mailing now would be contrary to legislative intent.

This is because a bill to authorize the mailing process was introduced and failed to pass the 1959 Legislature, Sybert opined.

"The action of the General Assembly in rejecting the amendment as proposed clearly shows a legislative intent that it is not to be made by mail," the attorney general said.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, one of the three members of the Board of Public Works, commented that Robert B. Kimble, the executive director of the Department of Employment Security, had appeared before the board to ask approval of jobless pay by mail.

But Lloyd L. Simpkins, executive assistant to Gov. Tawes, said Kimble had urged defeat of the mail bill during the last Legislature.

The Board of Public Works then instructed Kimble to get together with the Legislative Council and decide whether or not the checks should be mailed. The unemployed now must go to ESB offices and pick up their weekly checks.

Bethlehem To Boost Plant's Capacity

NEW YORK (AP) — The country's biggest steel plant will get bigger.

Bethlehem Steel Corp. plans to increase the capacity of its Sparrows Point, Md., plant from 8,200,000 ingot tons annual capacity to 9,000,000 tons in the next two years.

Key to the increase, the company said Monday in the publication, "Bethlehem Review," is a plan to equip a new open hearth shop for the use of oxygen. The shop has seven furnaces. Two now use oxygen.

"The advantage of oxygen," the publication said, "is that it removes carbon from the molten steel faster than normal methods. This reduces heat time in the furnace and increases its capacity without changing its size."

Lane Withdraws As Convention Delegate

BALTIMORE (AP) — Former Gov. William Preston Lane Jr. withdrew Monday as a member of Maryland's delegation to the Democratic National Convention. Democratic State Chairman Thomas B. Finan named E. Stuart Bushong, Lane's law office associate and another veteran Washington County Democratic leader, to fill the vacancy.

Lane said a combination of business and family obligations would prevent his attendance at the national convention opening July 11.

Employer Sent To Jail In Idle Pay Fraud Case

BALTIMORE (AP) — An employer was sentenced to 18 months in the House of Correction Monday for helping 3 workmen defraud the Department of Employment Security.

Ralph Trainello, 38, admitted before Judge J. Gilbert Prendergast he hired the workers at his auto repair shop for less than the prevailing wage of mechanics.

He kept them off his payroll records so they could receive jobless pay, even giving them time off to go collect the weekly benefits.

Judge Prendergast told Trainello he was "really using public funds to meet a substantial part of your payroll."

The judge fined the three workmen the equivalent of the amounts they collected fraudulently and also ordered them to repay the department. The total involved was $750.

He then released them under 90-day suspended sentences.

Ike Marches With Old Grads At West Point

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — President Eisenhower marched happily Monday with West Point old grads and reminisced solemnly about D-Day on this 16th anniversary of the Normandy invasion.

For more than five hours the 69-year-old President was on the go—under a hot sun on the parade grounds, up and down stairs on a nostalgic tour of the military academy, on to an alumni luncheon and then to a meeting of his 1915 class.

Eisenhower arrived at the academy Saturday afternoon and plans to fly back to Washington Tuesday morning.

It developed early Monday that Eisenhower was well aware of this being the 16th anniversary of the D-Day invasion he commanded in 1944.

He was inspecting one of the classrooms with a map of the Normandy area when Lt. Gen. Garrison H. Davidson, West Point Superintendent, asked him: "Did you recall, sir, that this is June 6?"

"That was the first thing I thought of this morning," Eisenhower replied. He seemed to muse about it for a moment, and then added quickly: "Well, I don't have to live that day over, anyhow."

Free Press Celebrates

NEW YORK (AP) — Freedom of bitterly disappointed by events in the Press Day will be observed Cuba. "This, then, is a day of mourning for the Cuban press; but it is also a day to restate the determination of the free press of the New World to continue the struggle until freedom of the press is restored in Cuba and until all newspapers illegally seized by the government are returned to their rightful owners," Cowles said.

Cowles, publisher of the Spokane (Wash.) Spokesman-Review, reported "notable progress in the ceaseless struggle for freedom of expression in the Western Hemisphere" since the day first was observed in 1953.

"This basic ingredient of democracy has been restored in Argentina, Peru, Venezuela and Colombia," he said.

Busy mother keeps tab on phone calls

Diary shows phone saved days of time, 156 miles of travel and $11.70 in two weeks

Mrs. Harris of La Vale, Maryland, talks over Choral Society plans with a friend—while 4-year-old Carolyn keeps tabs on Mother.

Mrs. Harris is the mother of two small boys, ages 6 and 8, and a pre-school daughter. Her husband is a teacher. With youngsters this age, and a husband whose profession calls for continual contact with parents, a phone often seems like a necessity.

Mrs. Harris decided she'd find out for sure, so for two weeks she kept tabs on her phone calls with a telephone diary. The diary spelled out the value of phone service in hours saved—fewer miles of errand running—and resultant savings in dollars and cents that virtually cut the cost of phone service to nothing.

Probably you don't keep a telephone diary. But if you did, we think you'd be pleasantly surprised at the many ways your telephone pays for itself.

In the settling dust today, three main lines of opinion about sum-solving the problems of past wars and future survival.

"I know something of the nature of summit meetings," said former President Truman, "and I know they won't work as they are conducted. I have little faith in summit meetings."

2. The conviction that much time will elapse before an American president again sits with the Soviets in a Big Four conference.

"We should look very, very carefully before we submit the prestige of the President of the United States again to what has just happened in Paris," said George F. Kennan, specialist on Soviet affairs, in testimony before a congressional committee.

3. Renewed interest in the United Nations, and calls for more frequent meetings of the Big Four foreign ministers there.

"I would suggest that we make a 'summit' of the United Nations," said Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, former president of its General Assembly. "The secretary-general of the U. N. should be invited to attend all major international parleys."

On many sides, observers urged a return to classical diplomacy with the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in the U. N.

Said the London Daily Telegraph: "If going to the horse's mouth involves getting kicked in the teeth it may be just as well for the West to content itself with (the Soviet foreign minister) Mr. Gromyko."

Migrant Workers Sought For Theft

SALISBURY (AP) — Maryland Police have issued a 13-state alarm for three Eastern Shore migrant workers after a theft from the Worcester County farm home of William Brian Denston near Snow Hill.

A school bus Denston drives was listed among the missing items, but was found a few hours later on a wooded road near a migrant labor camp. The bus apparently was undamaged.

Officers said warrants were being obtained charging Robert Darling, Robert Hudson and Melvin Bronson, all Negroes aged 35 to 40, with burglarizing the farm.

Denston discovered a movie camera, radio, rifle, clock and clothing missing Sunday night when the family returned from a trip.

State Police said the goods were sold at a labor camp near Pocomoke City for $23. Officers said the three migrants are believed to be traveling in a 1946 black sedan with New Jersey license plates.

Ike Marches With Old Grads At West Point

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — President Eisenhower marched happily Monday with West Point old grads and reminisced solemnly about D-Day on this 16th anniversary of the Normandy invasion.

For more than five hours the 69-year-old President was on the go under a hot sun on the parade grounds, up and down stairs on a nostalgic tour of the military academy, on to an alumni luncheon and then to a meeting of his 1915 class.

Eisenhower arrived at the academy Saturday afternoon and plans to fly back to Washington Tuesday morning.

It developed early Monday that Eisenhower was well aware of this being the 16th anniversary of the D-Day invasion he commanded in 1944.

He was inspecting one of the classrooms with a map of the Normandy area when Lt. Gen. Garrison H. Davidson, West Point Superintendent, asked him: "Did you recall, sir, that this is June 6?"

"That was the first thing I thought of this morning," Eisenhower replied. He seemed to muse about it for a moment, and then added quickly: "Well, I don't have to live that day over, anyhow."

Free Press Celebrates

NEW YORK (AP) — Freedom of the Press Day will be observed Tuesday in the Western Hemisphere.

"It is a day set aside for rejoicing in countries where a free press is enjoyed, and for mourning in countries whose people are kept in darkness," said William H. Cowles, president of the International Press Assn., sponsor of the day.

Cowles, publisher of the Spokane (Wash.) Spokesman-Review, reported "notable progress in the ceaseless struggle for freedom of expression in the Western Hemisphere" since the day first was observed in 1953.

"This basic ingredient of democracy has been restored in Argentina, Peru, Venezuela and Colombia," he said.

"On the other hand, the free press of the Americas has been Busy mother keeps tabs on phone calls

Diary shows phone saved days of time, 156 miles of travel and $11.70 in two weeks

Mrs. Harris of La Vale, Maryland, talks over Choral Society plans with a friend—while 4-year-old Carolyn keeps tabs on Mother.

Mrs. Harris is the mother of two small boys, ages 6 and 8, and a pre-school daughter. Her husband is a teacher. With youngsters this age, and a husband whose profession calls for continual contact with parents, a phone often seems like a necessity.

Mrs. Harris decided she'd find out for sure, so for two weeks she kept tabs on her phone calls with a telephone diary. The diary spelled out the value of phone service in hours saved—fewer miles of errand running—and resultant savings in dollars and cents that virtually cut the cost of phone service to nothing.

Probably you don't keep a telephone diary. But if you did, we think you'd be pleasantly surprised at the many ways your telephone pays for itself.

Devotions, a challenge of the Christian missionary vocation, were held on the topic, "Set Apart for Me." Mrs. Walter Defibaugh had the meditation on "Mountains of Noble Adventure." Mrs. Kenneth Jewell read the Scripture; Mrs. John S. Park led in prayer and Mrs. Kenneth Zembower read a letter from a missionary presenting the purpose of the missionary vocation. The group sang, "Jesus Saves," and "Faith of Our Fathers," with Mrs. Carl Howsare at the piano.

Subscriptions to church papers were taken. Mrs. John Rose received her past president's pin. Hostesses were Mrs. George Carlheim, Mrs. Ruth Oster and Miss Ella Carlheim. Others present were Mrs. Dewayne Hite, Mrs. William Jewell, Mrs. Albert Nave, Mrs. Kenneth Welch and Mrs. Howard Dickerhoof.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized in St. Peter and Paul Church, of Hobart, with Father Pace officiating. Miss Mary Kathryn Fox was the bride's maid of honor and only attendant, while Richard Menerette, Clinton-Sherman AFB, Oklahoma, was best man.

Given in marriage by her mother, the bride was attired in a white lace dress, trimmed in blue. With it she wore white accessories and carried a bouquet of white carnations, backed with blue net.

Her attendant wore a blue lace dress and also had a bouquet of white carnations. Mrs. Branam chose a beige dress, with matching accessories for her daughter's wedding, while Mrs. Craze wore a green print chignon, with white accessories. Both had corsages of white carnations.

The bride is a graduate of Hobart High School, where she was a member of the T and I Club, Pep Club and basketball team. Upon their return from Oklahoma City, Mr. and Mrs. Craze are residing at 130 South Randall Street, Hobart.

Cumberland AAUW To Be IFYE Host For State Workshop Student To Show Film

Plans for the first state convention of the American Association of University Women and an area workshop in Cumberland were discussed at the annual spring luncheon of Cumberland Branch, AAUW, held Saturday at the Cumberland Country Club. Mrs. John G. Thomas presided and installed two officers.

The state convention is to be held at the Ali Ghan Country Club next April.

A new venture of the state AAUW is to have three workshops, with state officers presiding. The one for the western area will be held in Cumberland June 9, from 4 until 9 p. m. It will be at the Woman's Civic Club house, with dinner served at the Fort Cumberland Hotel at 6:15. The area includes Cumberland, Frostburg, Georges Creek, Garrett County, Hagerstown and Carroll County.

Other workshops will be for the central area, at College Club, Baltimore, today with Baltimore Branch hostess; and the eastern area, June 9 at St. Mark's Methodist Church, Easton, with that branch hostess.

Following a general meeting Thursday there will be the group workshops, consisting of branch program chairmen, social and economic issues, status of women, education committee, international relations and legislative chairmen.

State officers here to conduct the workshops will be Mrs. Fannie-Fern Davis, president, of Kensington, accompanied by Mrs. A. L. Fleming, Salisbury; Miss Mary E. Byer, Hagerstown, first and second vice presidents, respectively; Miss Mary Maude Read, Bethesda, social and economic issues chairman, and Miss Catherine M. Erney, Silver Spring, status of women chairman.

Preceding the workshop the visitors will be met by Mrs. Joseph Miller, Mrs. William Harrison, Mrs. George Wolford and Mrs. Ton van Strien.

New officers installed Saturday were Miss Ethel Thayer, treasurer, succeeding Mrs. William Frailey, and Mrs. van Strien, replacing Miss A. Pauline Fisher.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Try Before You Buy

Do you remember the last time you purchased something to wear — without trying it on? Chances are, if you're like most women, it didn't fit — either in size, in color or in keeping with your basic wardrobe plan. So you shopped in haste, exchanged in displeasure... unless the item was marked All Sales Final. Then, you just gritted your teeth and pledged never again to buy without trying.

Are you cured? Think about it awhile. What are your reasons for shopping in haste, for buying on impulse, for making selections under pressure?

No time? Or do you have impatient youngsters with you? Then, ask the clerk to hold the garment and return when you let have the time and the peace of mind for a proper fitting.

Or do you find yourself caught too often "shopping unaware" — showerless, socked and sad — buttons down front — and your de-shed, not quite sure if your comb is handy — you're set to protect and repair your hairdo. And don't risk guesswork when you deliberately shop for a hat. Hat-trying demands that your hair be properly coiffed in the fashion you will wear with the hat.

TOMORROW: Contours Charm. FIGURED FOR YOU: Select foundation garments the scientific way.

30 W. Virginia Towns To Hold Elections Today

By United Press International
Voters in 30 communities throughout West Virginia go to the polls today to choose local officials. Little interest has been generated in most of the elections and in several places incumbents are unopposed.

Seven of the 14 seats on Morgantown city council are up for election. Incumbent Mayor Marilyn E. Luger is running for reelection to council as an independent after his name was submitted by petition. The council chooses the mayor from its membership.

Welch Mayor B.F. Howard, a Republican, was unopposed for reelection.

In some places, voters also decide on bond issue proposals and other local matters.

Among these was a bond issue at Morgantown to raise some $750,000 — depending on how much the federal government will put up to be matched — for improvements to the municipal airport.

Elections also were scheduled at:

Benwood, Buckhannon, Keyser, Pineville, Richwood, Romney, Parsons, Belle, Beech Bottom, Capon Bridge, Franklin, Glen Dale, Grant Town, Hamblin, Hamlin, Lost Creek, New Haven, Northfork, Osage, Odeana, Ronceverte, Salem, Shepherdstown, Smithers, Thomas, Wardensville and Westover.

30 W. Virginia Towns To Hold Elections Today

By United Press International

Voters in 30 communities throughout West Virginia go to the polls today to choose local officials. Little interest has been generated in most of the elections and in several places incumbents are unopposed.

Seven of the 14 seats on Morgantown city council are up for election. Incumbent Mayor Marilyn E. Luger is running for reelection to council as an independent after his name was submitted by petition. The council chooses the mayor from its membership.

Welch Mayor B.F. Howard, a Republican, was unopposed for reelection.

In some places, voters also decide on bond issue proposals and other local matters.

Among these was a bond issue at Morgantown to raise some $750,000 — depending on how much the federal government will put up to be matched — for improvements to the municipal airport.

Elections also were scheduled at:

Benwood, Buckhannon, Keyser, Pineville, Richod, Romney, Parsons, Belle, Beech Bottom, Capon Bridge, Franklin, Glen Dale, Grant Town, Hamilton, Hamlin, Lost Creek, New Haven, Northfork, Osage, Odeana, Roncovevete, Salem, Shepherdstown, Smithers, Thomas, Wardensville and Westover.

Elderly Influence In California

California Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown has tried to take most of the fun out of his state's Presidential primary balloting today by posting a "no trespassing" sign for other Democrat hopefuls. California politics being what they are, however, Brown's favorite-son status is being challenged by a "nuisance" candidate whose opposition is no laughing matter for the governor.

He is George McLain, a professional lobbyist and champion of California's 1 1/4 million recipients of Social Security payments. McLain claims Brown "betrayed" the state's old folks, and assures his avid audiences that a victory over the governor would be such political dynamite that Congress would jump to increase Social Security benefits by 32 per cent.

Votes of the elderly long have been a potent political force in California, home of the Townsend Clubs. These political pressure groups, dating back to the 1930s, have helped to push Congress into liberalizing the Social Security program in election years. McLain has 50,000 oldsters organized in his California Institute of Social Welfare.

Most observers expect McLain to run well behind the governor for California's 81 delegate votes in the Democratic National Convention. But they fear the Townsendite may attract enough votes to diminish the total cast for Brown and permit Vice President Nixon, who is unopposed on the GOP ballot, to win a bloodless "popularity contest" with the governor. The last thing California's Democratic leaders want to do is give a psychological lift to Nixon's candidacy.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

'Evergreen'

Out of Red China comes a magazine, "Evergreen." "A Magazine of Chinese Youth and Students," to tell the world of the wonders of Communist China. It is an interesting publication which leaves little to the imagination. On the subject of the relations of Soviet Russia and Red China, Hu Yao-pang, First Secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist Youth League of China, wrote:

"During the past ten years all enemies who are hostile to our common cause have resorted to all possible means to create differences between our two peoples, in a fantastic attempt to weaken and undermine our great alliance. But all their efforts have come to naught. They will never achieve their aims, because our alliance and friendship is based on the principles of Marxism-Leninism and the great ideal of communism. This alliance and friendship is everlasting and unbreakable and nobody can ever split it."

"Evergreen" is frankly propagandistic, aimed at the Asiatic and African nations which employ English as a second language. It is clear that Red China seeks to establish itself as the leader of the Asiatic and African nations. Only since the Bandung Conference (1955) has any period in Chinese history been related to Africa. There is no record, ancient or modern, when China concerned itself with Africa or had any intercourse with African nations.

One of the phrases emphasized in all issues of "Evergreen" is "The Big Leap." This is the story of the move to industrialize Communist China. In an article entitled "China's Students Gather for a Triumphant Leap," appears this:

"Chinese students are concerned not only with the destiny of their own nation; they always regard it as an important constant task to maintain the struggle against imperialism and colonialism and in defence of world peace, and also to strengthen their ties of friendship and cooperation with the students of other countries. We firmly support the Asian, African and Latin American peoples in their just struggle against imperialism and colonialism and for the achievement of national independence. We spare no efforts in building friendly relations and cooperation with the students of all lands. The world situation today is excellent for our struggles. The East wind has prevailed and will continue to prevail over the West wind..."

In the April issue is an article entitled, "We Firmly Support the Struggle of Latin American Youth Against U.S. Imperialism," by Chien Li-jen, Council Member of China-Latin America Friendship Association and Secretary General of All-China Youth Federation. A cartoon shows an enormous fist with the slogan, "Yankee Go Home!" A smaller fist bears the slogan: "Ike Go Home!" The article says:

"The victory of the Cuban people's revolution was a most inspiring historical event in the national and democratic movement of Latin America. During the past year and more, the heroic Cuban youth alongside their people have time and again smashed the U. S. imperialists' provocations and aggressive schemes. In face of the frenzied threats and barbarous outrages committed by U. S. imperialism, the people and youth of Cuba have displayed a dauntless spirit against the enemy. Closely united, they are determined to defend their revolution unswervingly. Their heroic struggles have dealt a telling blow to U. S. imperialism and inspired the fighting will of the peoples and youth of Latin American countries. Throughout the whole Latin American continent, from Argentina's Tierra del Fuego to the Caribbean Sea, there has risen a tornado that has turned the so-called 'strategic rear' of the United States into the front line of the struggle against U. S. imperialism."

There is also an article on "Japan's Youth Firmly Oppose Japan-U. S. Military Alliance." It is an attack on Prime Minister Kishi of Japan and on the United States. In this article appeared this:

"The struggle of the Japanese people and youth against the Japan-U. S. 'Security Treaty' has enabled an increasing number of people to see even more clearly that only by waging an unyielding and resolute struggle against the U. S. and Japanese reactionaries' machinations of aggression and war can Japan take the road of peace, independence, democracy and neutrality."

"Evergreen" gives the key to much of Red China's policy. It is interesting to note that a large sector of the world Communist propaganda effort has been transferred from the Kremlin to Peking. Not only the people of Southeast Asia are in the Chinese orbit, but also of Africa and Latin America.

'Why Don't You Say Something!!?'

Is Patriotism Just An Obsolete Notion Now?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Time was when in the midst of war neither scribe nor politician ventured to give aid and comfort to the enemy.

Time was when the citizen felt a tingle of emotion go up and down his spine as he sang the "Star-Spangled Banner" or saluted the flag.

Time was when the nation found itself in peril, and nothing else mattered. No sacrifice—even of life itself—was too great to make for the honor of our country.

But things seem to be different now. The President of the United States is insulted and yet some writers continue to furnish aid and comfort to the press of the Soviet Union by denouncing Mr. Eisenhower and holding him culpable for errors he couldn't possibly have avoided and still protect the safety of the American people against surprise attack.

Is the country changing? Is patriotism just an obsolete notion, nurtured only by those of us who have witnessed manifestations of national spirit and pride over a long span of years? Are some of us old-fashioned because we cannot accept the modern cynicism which insists that a President of the United States shall be pilloried by political leaders by some segments of the press of his own country as Moscow papers reprint every bit of captious and carping criticism?

Is a "cold war" any different really from the crises that call for nonpartisanship during a "hot war"? Time was when in wartime a newspaperman practiced "voluntary censorship" and when his conscience kept him from writing anything that might possibly aid the enemy. A "cold war" and a "hot war" are no different so far as national danger is concerned. Today the demand is for almost every scrap of information including "classified" information and there are newsmen and members of Congress who insist in all sincerity that they and not the executive branch of the government—which has the responsibility for our safety—shall be the final judges of what ought to be suppressed or disclosed.

Time was when this correspondent used to hear the expression: "I'm an American first and a newspaperman second." But today things seem different. No matter how damaging to one's own country, the tendency now is to give the information or comment publicly to the enemy dictator who promptly quotes it in his propaganda speeches.

As America, moreover, approaches a political campaign, partisan writers say that the President should have known in advance of every act to be performed, by every subordinate in the numerous agencies of a big government and that efforts to gather information abroad clandestinely should have been in effect suspended indefinitely to the advantage of a gangster regime in Moscow. Immediately Moscow seizes on every such adverse comment especially when it emanates from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

But these misguided "intellectuals," so many of whom in the scientific world especially believe in "world citizenship" as superseding American citizenship, will some day be proved completely wrong. Back in the 1920's after World War I there were demonstrations of students in the colleges against war. They held meetings or organizations calling for the soldiers' "bonus of future wars." It was a satirical effort to put the label of selfishness on the men who had to leave their families and jobs and go to war. But when the United States entered World War II in 1941 this same generation acquitted itself nobly. No better troops ever fought for America than those who battled in World War II.

Grass-roots Americanism today resents bitterly the insults flung at the President of the United States. It resents attack on Mr. Eisenhower in the American press which the next day are parroted and quoted with exultation in the Soviet press.

It so happens that Mr. Eisenhower was the supreme commander of allied forces in World War II. He helped to save the Soviet Union from the yoke of Hitler. The American people between 1941 and 1945 sent billions of dollars to help equip the Soviet armies. When the war was over, General Eisenhower was received with acclaim in Moscow. But Nikita Khrushchev now says Mr. Eisenhower is fit only to manage a home for children. Recently he called the President a "thief."

It begins to look as if Nikita Khrushchev is resentful of all military men. But he has miscalculated public opinion everywhere if he thinks he can be little not only the President of the United States but the very general who helped Russia in the winning of World War II.

The Soviet premier, to be sure, has lost whatever prestige he may have had in the West. He has forfeited an opportunity for effective leadership as a negotiator with the West. He has really betrayed his own country. For the people of the Soviet Union don't want war and when they get all the facts they will not long support a man who acts more like an uncivilized boor than like the dignified premier of a government which professes to represent a great people.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

POLITICS — The U-2 "spy plane" incident and its ramifications which resulted in the crashing failure at the Summit conference in Paris add up to a new factor in Presidential politics.

As the dust begins to settle, politicians in Washington and across the nation are trying to assess its effects in the campaigns and the candidates of the two major political parties.

Foremost is a widespread belief that the incident robbed the Republican Party of the "peace issue." For more than a generation, GOP candidates have gotten mileage out of the facts of history by which America entered the two major wars of this century and the Korean affair while Democrats were in the White House.

This fact has given innumerable Republican candidates the opening to declare that their party was the one more apt to keep America out of another war. They implied, and on many instances flatly claimed, that their party and its leaders were better equipped to deal with the other nations of the world. Now, that argument is gone.

The Eisenhower administration's mis-handling of the "spy plane" affair was initially inept and foolish, and rapidly mushroomed into the most colossal blunder in recent diplomatic history. Moreover, its elements were understood by all who read the daily newspapers or listened to radio, or watched television.

It will be many, many months, if not years, before a Republican office-seeker can make a political speech claiming superiority in the handling of foreign affairs, without automatically evoking the U-2 incident in the minds of his listeners.

Nixon Has Five Public Relations Firms Rolling Up California Votes

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's note — While Drew Pearson is out of Washington briefly his column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — The most important vote in Vice President Nixon's pre-convention maneuvering takes place in California today. If by any chance he should not go over big in his home state, then the slumbering forces of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller would get significant impetus for unseating Nixon at Chicago in July.

That's why Nixon is working so hard to see that this does not happen.

To this end, as much preparation has gone into the Nixon primary in California as if he were running against an opponent — which he is not.

Five expert public relations firms have been retained to drum up votes for Dick, and the interesting fact is that the so-called "Grass Roots Clubs for Nixon" are actually being run out of these public relations offices. There's nothing very grassy about them.

The Vice President has always gone in heavily for public relations, but never so much as during the current campaign to roll up a big vote in his home state.

Down in San Diego, two PR firms, Champ, Wilson and Slocum, with Armstrong, Fenton, and Vipson, organized the grass roots for Dick. Congressman Bob Wilson, a member of one firm, is also running for re-election, and although he doesn't mean to,

is indirectly financing a certain amount of Democratic advertising.

Wilson has printed auto-bumper stickers reading "Another Democrat for Wilson." Democrats merrily cut the last two words off the sticker, then flaunt on their cars stickers reading "Another Democrat!"

In Los Angeles, the "Richard M. Nixon for President" committee is operated from exactly the same address as the PR firm of Baus and Ross. Bill Ross was one of the contributors to the $18,000 personal expense fund for Nixon. In San Francisco, the "Nixon Committee for Northern California" is operated from the offices of Whitaker and Baxter, the Flood Building, San Francisco. And in the Los Angeles suburbs, "The Orange County Nixon Committee" has exactly the same address as the PR firm of Geier Associates.

How much money this is costing nobody knows, and Sen. Lyndon Johnson has been too busy promoting his own campaign to appoint a Senate elections investigating committee. However, public relations firms, unlike volunteer workers, don't work for peanuts and the vote today should be a triumph for California's "Madison Ave."

Note—What Nixon PR firms are working like crazy to do is roll up a bigger vote than the Democrats. He should be able to outdistance Gov. Pat Brown, because pension promoter George McLain, a Democrat, is opposing Brown and will draw about 500,000 Democratic votes. But beating the combined Democratic total will be something else again.

Navy Bandman's Funeral
Here is one tragic incident connected with the Navy Band's tour of Latin America which the House Armed Services Committee did not investigate.

Bandman Albert Desiderio Jr. was about to be buried in Arlington National Cemetery. The sorrowing parents stood before the flag-draped casket supposedly containing the last remains of their son.

Suddenly an officer informed them that the Navy had just located the actual body of their son, identified from the name on his belt.

"Then what is in this casket?" asked Mr. Desiderio.

"Twenty-five pounds of human matter, unidentifiable," replied the officer.

The chaplain advised the family to continue with the funeral. Many important naval officers were present and he felt it was best to go ahead.

"What do you think we are made of—iron?" asked Mrs. Desiderio.

However, in deference to the Navy she proceeded with the ceremony during which the casket which did not contain the body of her son was lowered into the grave.

Political-Go-Round

One of the most interesting primaries of the week is in Montana where four Democrats are running for the Senate seat being vacated by elder statesman Jim Murray, who retires at the age of 84. The candidates include ex-Gov. John Bonner, John Mahan, ex-Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Congressman LeRoy Anderson, a reserve major general who set the Congressional Record for getting crop loans — $216,730 in three years; and Congressman Lee Metcalf, head of the Democratic "study group" which has dominated House leadership this year. Metcalf is a strong favorite to win. . . . Lyndon Johnson put his D.C. headquarters sign up once, then took it down again. Yet they talk about Adlai Stevenson's indecisiveness. . . . Out in California Democrats are getting hold of the large crop of Nixon buttons, bumper and windshield stickers and turning them upside down. They then read: "NOXIN". . . . Texas officials won't want to be reminded of it, but the Supreme Court's recent decision that Texas was entitled to tidal lands 10 1/2 miles off the coast actually meant that Texas lost a lot of oil. The joker is that there is almost no oil inside the 10 1/2-mile limit. It lies farther offshore, beyond the limit. And during the Truman administration, the Sam Rayburn-Tom Clark compromise would have given Texas one-half of all oil offshore, including that beyond the 10 1/2-mile limit. Texas officials indignantly turned down the offer. Now they wish they hadn't! GOP leader Charlie Halleck is not happy over his pending appointment as chairman of the Republican Convention. His real ambition is to be Vice President and his selection as chairman automatically rules him out as Nixon's running mate.

The Simple Lesson

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

On the way home from the exploded summit this reporter was haunted by a remembered image—a short, big-bellied man with a yellowish complexion, a wen on his cheek and porcine but piercing little eyes, who talked about the world and himself with immense vigor and obvious calculation, in a huge bleak, hideous office smelling strongly of power and musty curtains.

Such was Nikita S. Khrushchev, when he received me in Moscow for a two hour conversation in February, 1957. Such, no doubt, he still is today—except that the first secretary's office in the Moscow headquarters of the Communist party must be far more rank with the smell of power, and Khrushchev himself, always breathing this rank air, must be far more power-drunk by now.

The reason for this haunting by Khrushchev's image was simply the memory of two prophetic things he said at this meeting now three years in the past. This memory has now been checked with the notes taken at the time.

The first of these two statements was made when Khrushchev was discussing the "conditions" of peaceful coexistence, the very "first condition," he said, was for the Western nations to "reconcile themselves" to the enduring existence of the Socialist countries—"to accept this, as a believer would say, as something given by God."

The time-context of this demand was the massacre in Hungary, where the blood was hardy dry in the streets of Budapest. By this demand and many other things he said, Khrushchev made it plain that he was deeply preoccupied with the stabilization of the Soviet puppet regimes in Eastern Europe. But Eastern Europe could not, and cannot be stabilized without the stabilization of East Germany. And East Germany could not, and cannot, be fully stabilized because of the island of freedom in West Berlin.

In fact one can see by hindsight that this first statement foretold the Berlin crisis, in that crisis, the Western nations were in reality asked to signify their acceptance of Soviet domination of Eastern Europe, as "something given by God," by the sacrifice of West Berlin. As for the second statement, one can also see by hindsight that it foretold the actual timing of the Berlin crisis.

Khrushchev was boasting about Soviet progress in the development of "advanced weapons," in this development he remarked with jaw aggressively out-thrust, "We are not behind." From these weapons, he said, "No corner of the globe can be immune." The time would therefore come, he added, when "the peoples of Europe (would) not tolerate their being guinea pigs in the hands of others," and would therefore insist on the removal of "warlike American bases" from their soil.

When Khrushchev spoke, the Soviets did not have any operational intercontinental ballistic missiles, and they were only just forming their first intermediate range ballistic missile squadrons. By the summer of 1958, however, the Soviets already possessed a considerable panoply of IRBMs, and their ICBM program was progressing rapidly.

At this point, one cannot doubt Khrushchev decided to test the effect of these important changes in the military balance of power on "the peoples of Europe" and on the people of the United States, too. In the interview in February, 1957, he stated quite clearly what effect he foresaw—either surrender on the point at issue, or the actual breakup of the Western Alliance.

By the same token, his paroxysms of rage today can be traced to a sharp disappointment. The effect he foresaw from the changes in the power balance was not produced on schedule.

All this is worth recalling now, not because Khrushchev said anything to this reporter that he has not said to many others. It is worth recalling, rather, because it is high time to take at their face value these things that Khrushchev has said so often.

What Khrushchev wanted from the Berlin crisis, and from the summit conference, too, was the stabilization of Eastern Europe by the sacrifice of West Berlin. What encouraged Khrushchev to start the Berlin crisis was a change in the balance of power which he believed would drive the West to give him what he wanted. He did not get what he wanted—

This time these facts are enough to explain everything that has been happening in Moscow. Without any fine-spun demagogical theories about the growing power of the Soviet army and the like. But these facts should also be enough to prove the folly of the continuing neglect of the balance of power by the Eisenhower administration and the other Western governments.

HONEY AND DIABETES

E. M. T. writes: I use honey instead of sugar for sweetening purposes. A friend told me recently this habit will cause sugar diabetes. Is this possible?

REPLY

No. Diabetes stems from lack of insulin production by the body, and is not caused by eating certain foods.

FAST EMTYPING

A. H. writes: What makes food pass through the stomach too rapidly?

REPLY

The speed with which food passes through the stomach varies from one person to another, depending upon the type of food consumed and whether he is calm or upset emotionally. Disease processes also affect stomach motility.

CONCEPTION

L. M. writes: Can you get pregnant if you don't have enough thyroid?

REPLY

Yes, as a normal thyroid is not a prerequisite to pregnancy. Treatment of hypothyroidism in the mother-to-be is suggested; otherwise the child may develop into a cretin. On the other hand, thyroid extract may be helpful in the treatment of sterility, by stimulating and toning up other glands in the body.

Elderly Influence In California

California Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown has tried to take most of the fun out of his state's Presidential primary balloting today by posting a "no trespassing" sign for other Democrat hopefuls. California politics being what they are, however, Brown's favorite-son status is being challenged by a "nuisance" candidate whose opposition is no laughing matter for the governor.

He is George McLain, a professional lobbyist and champion of California's 1 1/4 million recipients of Social Security payments. McLain claims Brown "betrayed" the state's old folks, and assures his avid audiences that a victory over the governor would be such political dynamite that Congress would jump to increase Social Security benefits by 32 per cent.

Votes of the elderly long have been a potent political force in California, home of the Townsend Clubs. These political pressure groups, dating back to the 1930s, have helped to push Congress into liberalizing the Social Security program in election years. McLain has 50,000 oldsters organized in his California Institute of Social Welfare.

Most observers expect McLain to run well behind the governor for California's 81 delegate votes in the Democratic National Convention. But they fear the Townsendite may attract enough votes to diminish the total cast for Brown and permit Vice President Nixon, who is unopposed on the GOP ballot, to win a bloodless "popularity contest" with the governor. The last thing California's Democratic leaders want to do is give a psychological lift to Nixon's candidacy.

'Evergreen'

Out of Red China comes a magazine, "Evergreen." "A Magazine of Chinese Youth and Students," to tell the world of the wonders of Communist China. It is an interesting publication which leaves little to the imagination. On the subject of the relations of Soviet Russia and Red China, Hu Yao-pang, First Secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist Youth League of China, wrote:

"During the past ten years all enemies who are hostile to our common cause have resorted to all possible means to create differences between our two peoples, in a fantastic attempt to weaken and undermine our great alliance. But all their efforts have come to naught. They will never achieve their aims, because our alliance and friendship is based on the principles of Marxism-Leninism and the great ideal of communism. This alliance and friendship is everlasting and unbreakable and nobody can ever split it."

"Evergreen" is frankly propagandistic, aimed at the Asiatic and African nations which employ English as a second language. It is clear that Red China seeks to establish itself as the leader of the Asiatic and African nations. Only since the Bandung Conference (1955) has any period in Chinese history been related to Africa. There is no record, ancient or modern, when China concerned itself with Africa or had any intercourse with African nations.

One of the phrases emphasized in all issues of "Evergreen" is "The Big Leap." This is the story of the move to industrialize Communist China. In an article entitled "China's Students Gather for a Triumphant Leap," appears this:

"Chinese students are concerned not only with the destiny of their own nation; they always regard it as an important constant task to maintain the struggle against imperialism and colonialism and in defence of world peace, and also to strengthen their ties of friendship and cooperation with the students of other countries. We firmly support the Asian, African and Latin American peoples in their just struggle against imperialism and colonialism and for the achievement and defense of national independence. We spare no efforts in building friendly relations and cooperation with the students of all lands. The world situation today is excellent for our struggles. The East wind has prevailed and will continue to prevail over the West wind . . ."

In the April issue is an article entitled, "We Firmly Support the Struggle of Latin American Youth Against U.S. Imperialism," by Chien Li-jen, Council Member of China-Latin America Friendship Association and Secretary General of All-China Youth Federation. A cartoon shows an enormous fist with the slogan, "Yankee Go Home!" A smaller fist bears the slogan: "Ike Go Home!" The article says:

"The victory of the Cuban people's revolution was a most inspiring historical event in the national and democratic movement of Latin America. During the past year and more, the heroic Cuban youth alongside their people have time and again smashed the U. S. imperialists' provocations and aggressive schemes. In face of the frenzied threats and barbarous outrages committed by U. S. imperialism, the people and youth of Cuba have displayed a dauntless spirit against the enemy. Closely united, they are determined to defend their revolution unswervingly. Their heroic struggles have dealt a telling blow to U. S. imperialism and inspired the fighting will of the peoples and youth of Latin American countries. Throughout the whole Latin American continent, from Argentina's Tierra del Fuego to the Caribbean Sea, there has risen a tornado that has turned the so-called 'strategic rear' of the United States into the front line of the struggle against U. S. imperialism."

There is also an article on "Japan's Youth Firmly Oppose Japan-U. S. Military Alliance." It is an attack on Prime Minister Kishi of Japan and on the United States. In this article appeared this:

"The struggle of the Japanese people and youth against the Japan-U. S. 'Security Treaty' has enabled an increasing number of people to see even more clearly that only by waging an unyielding and resolute struggle against the U. S. and Japanese reactionaries' machinations of aggression and war can Japan take the road of peace, independence, democracy and neutrality."

"Evergreen" gives the key to much of Red China's policy. It is interesting to note that a large sector of the world Communist propaganda effort has been transferred from the Kremlin to Peiping. Not only the people of Southeast Asia are in the Chinese orbit, but also of Africa and Latin America.

'Why Don't You Say Something!?!'

Is Patriotism Just An Obsolete Notion Now?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Time was when in the midst of war neither scribe nor politician ventured to give aid and comfort to the enemy.

Time was when the citizen felt a tingle of emotion go up and down his spine as he sang the "Star-Spangled Banner" or saluted the flag.

Time was when the nation found itself in peril, and nothing else mattered. No sacrifice—even of life itself—was too great to make for the honor of our country.

But things seem to be different now. The President of the United States is insulted and yet some writers continue to furnish aid and comfort to the press of the Soviet Union by denouncing Mr. Eisenhower and holding him culpable for errors he couldn't possibly have avoided and still protect the safety of the American people against surprise attack.

Is the country changing? Is patriotism just an obsolete notion, nurtured only by those of us who have witnessed manifestations of national spirit and pride over a long span of years? Are some of us old-fashioned because we cannot accept the modern cynicism which insists that a President of the United States shall be pilloried by political leaders by some segments of the press of his own country as Moscow papers reprint every bit of capacious and carping criticism?

Is a "cold war" any different really from the crises that call for nonpartisanship during a "hot war"? Time was when in wartime a newspaperman practiced "voluntary censorship" and when his conscience kept him from writing anything that might possibly aid the enemy. A "cold war" and a "hot war" are no different so far as national danger is concerned. Today the demand is for almost every scrap of information including "classified" information and there are newsmen and members of Congress who insist in all sincerity that they and not the executive branch of the government—which has the responsibility for our safety—shall be the final judges of what ought to be suppressed or disclosed.

Time was when this correspondent used to hear the expression: "I'm an American first and a newspaperman second." But today things seem different. No matter how damaging to one's own country, the tendency now is to give the information or comment publicly to the enemy dictator who promptly quotes it in his propaganda speeches.

As America, moreover, approaches a political campaign, partisan writers say that the President should have known in advance of every act to be performed, by every subordinate in the numerous agencies of a big government and that efforts to gather information abroad clandestinely should have been in effect suspended indefinitely to the advantage of a gangster regime in Moscow. Immediately Moscow seizes on every such adverse comment especially when it emanates from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Was it too much to ask, as Senator Wiley, Republican of Wisconsin, did, that a public investigation by any Congressional committee on international matters during a crisis be suspended?

Maybe the urge to patriotism is less strong today than winning an election or carrying on a partisan crusade. Maybe we are witnessing the rise of new "liberals" who espouse the cause of nationalism in the various countries of Africa and Asia but denounce any nationalism expressed in the United States in behalf of the interests of our own country.

But these misguided "intellectuals," so many of whom in the scientific world especially believe in "world citizenship" as superseding American citizenship, will some day be proved completely wrong. Back in the 1920's after World War I there were demonstrations of students

POLITICS — The U-2 "spy plane" incident and its ramifications which resulted in the crashing failure at the Summit conference in Paris add up to a new factor in Presidential politics.

As the dust begins to settle, politicians in Washington and across the nation are trying to assess its effects in the campaigns and the candidates of the two major political parties.

Foremost is a widespread belief that the incident robbed the Republican Party of the "peace issue." For more than a generation, GOP candidates have gotten mileage out of the facts of history by which America entered the two major wars of this century and the Korean affair while Democrats were in the White House.

This fact has given innumerable Republican candidates the opening to declare that their party was the one more apt to keep America out of another war. They implied, and on many instances flatly claimed, that their party and its leaders were better equipped to deal with the other nations of the world. Now, that argument is gone.

The Eisenhower administration's mis-handling of the "spy plane" affair was initially inept and foolish, and rapidly mushroomed into the most colossal blunder in recent diplomatic history. Moreover, its elements were understood by all who read the daily newspapers or listened to radio, or watched television.

It will be many, many months, if not years, before a Republican office-seeker can make a political speech claiming superiority in the handling of foreign affairs, without automatically evoking the U-2 incident in the minds of his listeners.

Cause Of Chronic Pelvic Pain Is Unknown

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many women experience a dull aching pain deep in the pelvis that varies in severity from day to day. It is likely to be aggravated by standing and fatigue, and occasionally is more noticeable just prior to and mid-way between periods. The discomfort may last for weeks and disappear spontaneously, only to recur when least expected.

Physicians never have been able to pinpoint the cause of this annoyance despite repeated examinations, including exploratory operations. It is not a neurotic tendency nor is it due to tumor or infection.

Dr. Howard C. Taylor Jr. of

New York City calls it the pelvic pain syndrome. Aching is localized in one or both sides of the lower abdomen or in the center, just above the pubic bone. He has found that many victims have tenderness in the uterine ligaments that is compatible with spasm, strain, or mild inflammation.

Overly sensitive nerves in this area may be to blame but congestion is a better possibility because breast symptoms often develop along with the pelvic discomfort. Overdistended pelvic blood vessels and waterlogged tissues may mirror the engorgement of the breasts. In this respect, the pelvic pain syndrome may be related to the premenstrual swelling experienced by some women.

Temporary improvement occurs frequently after a period of rest or a vacation from home responsibilities. Such relaxation reduces pelvic tension.

Surgery is recommended only when symptoms are severe or have persisted for months or years. Several procedures are done, varying from removal of the uterus to cutting or severing pelvic nerves.

Nixon Has Five Public Relations Firms Rolling Up California Votes

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's note — While Drew Pearson is out of Washington briefly his column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — The most important vote in Vice President Nixon's pre-convention maneuvering takes place in California today. If by any chance he should not go over big in his home state, then the slumbering forces of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller would get significant impetus for unseating Nixon at Chicago in July.

That's why Nixon is working so hard to see that this does not happen.

To this end, as much preparation has gone into the Nixon primary in California as if he were running against an opponent — which he is not.

Five expert public relations firms have been retained to drum up votes for Dick, and the interesting fact is that the so-called "Grass Roots Clubs for Nixon" are actually being run out of these public relations offices. There's nothing very grassy about them.

The Vice President has always gone in heavily for public relations, but never so much as during the current campaign to roll up a big vote in his home state.

Down in San Diego, two PR firms, Champ, Wilson and Plorum, with Armstrong, Fenton, and Vipson, organized the grass roots for Dick. Congressman Bob Wilson, a member of one firm, is also running for re-election, and although he doesn't mean to,

is indirectly financing a certain amount of Democratic advertising.

Wilson has printed auto-bumper stickers reading "Another Democrat for Wilson." Democrats merrily cut the last two words off the sticker, then flaunt on their cars stickers reading "Another Democrat!"

In Los Angeles, the "Richard M. Nixon for President" committee is operated from exactly the same address as the PR firm of Baus and Ross. Bill Ross was one of the contributors to the $18,000 personal expense fund for Nixon. In San Francisco, the "Nixon Committee for Northern California" is operated from the offices of Whitaker and Baxter, the Flood Building, San Francisco. And in the Los Angeles suburbs, "The Orange County Nixon Committee" has exactly the same address as the PR firm of Geier Associates.

How much money this is costing nobody knows, and Sen. Lyndon Johnson has been too busy promoting his own campaign to appoint a Senate elections investigating committee. Seven Strike Out, Orioles Up Lead To 2 1/2 Games

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Rookie Chuck Estrada won his sixth game last night, pitching a six-hitter to help the Orioles lead Baltimore's 6-1 victory over the Washington Senators.

The victory boosted the Orioles' lead to 2 1/2 games over the Senators.

The Orioles rapped four Senators in the first inning, but lefty Jim Kaat taking the loss, his sixth against one victory. Jim Gentile drove in three tallies with a two-run double in the third and a homer in the seventh. His homer was his seventh of the year and second in two days.

The Orioles scored a single run in the first on Bob Allison's muffed fly ball and singles by Gene Woodling and Ron Hansen. After Gentile drove in two in the third with his double, Brooks Robinson singled him home for the third run and a 4-0 lead.

The Orioles scored their fifth run without a hit in the fourth when Jack Kralick walked two and hit Woodling to load the bases. Then he walked Hansen to force in the tally.

The triumph was the Orioles' 28th in their last 40 games and earned them a split in the four-game series with the Senators, who had won the first two.

Football Is Approved For Frostburg State

State Board Votes Unanimously; Action Hailed By Hardesty

Football is now part of the athletic program at Frostburg State Teachers College and was unanimously approved yesterday afternoon by the Maryland State Board of Education which met in the library of the college.

Jerome Frampton Jr., president of the Board, said at the meeting, William L. Wilson Jr., local attorney, who recently was named a member of the Board made a motion for the reintroduction of the sport at the college. The motion was seconded by George C. Rhoderick Jr. of Middletown.

R. Bowen Hardesty, president of the institution, said the college will observe the football policy as recommended to the Board in a resolution passed by the faculty after careful and planned study over three years of increasing enrollment and expanding curriculum.

Before any changes in the policy are made, said Mr. Hardesty, the administration will first notify the Board. He pointed out that the college will ask for no help for equipment nor annual operations at the present time.

To Play At Beall But in future years, he added, the college will request an economical stadium. For the present, games will be played on the Beall High School stadium, permission having been granted by Ralph Webster, superintendent of Allegany County public schools and the Board of Education of the county.

Mr. Hardesty further stated the college is located in a football area of 35 high schools in the Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia areas, 23 of which have football teams.

By offering football as part of the athletic program it seems highly possible that more students will be attracted who wish to continue participating in football during their college career.

Favored By Students The student poll at college in which 71.5 per cent of the student body participated, 88 per cent favored implementing football in the athletic program.

Dr. Harold Cordis, basketball and track coach, stated that the present fall sport is soccer and that football would round out the athletic program.

Basketball and fencing are winter sports with track, baseball, golf and tennis as spring sports.

Mr. Hardesty said the initial cost will run about $6,000 and operational expenses at about $4,000. The college has a football fund of about $11,000.

The enrollment for this fall is at the present time 1,070 students.

Mr. Hardesty said "football would generate an esprit de corps that would envelop the entire campus and community.

"Intercollegiate football," he added, "would develop pride in our institution in a way that few other activities could do.

"In no way is it to be inferred that scholastic standards are secondary at the college. To the contrary they are of prime importance and consideration.

Enrollment To Double It is noted that the enrollment will have doubled by September 1 under the present administration following the raising of admission in scholastic standards.

"In fact I have recently requested the faculty to study the feasibility of advancing again the standards of scholarship," concluded Mr. Hardesty.

Chicago Sox Edge Yankees In Ninth, 3-2

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Chicago White Sox took advantage of two errors by third baseman Gil McDougald to push over a ninth inning run Monday night and run their winning streak to four games with a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees.

Luis Aparicio bounced a sharp single off McDougald's glove with the bases full and none out to bring in the decisive tally after the White Sox had loaded the bases on Sherm Lollar's infield single and a pair of errors by McDougald on Gene Freese and Al Smith.

The White Sox had gone ahead, 2-1, on a two-run single by Minnie Minoso only to have the Yankees tie the score in the last of the inning when Roger Maris hit his 15th homer of the season and his 11th in the last 19 games.

The victory went to Gerry Staley, his sixth of the season, although he pitched only one inning and served up the game-tying homer to Maris. The loser was Whitey Ford, who shut out the White Sox for seven innings before both they and his own fielders caught up to him.

The White Sox' two eighth-inning runs also were set up by a faulty play — although it was not an official error. Aparicio started the rally with a single and had third made easily when Jim Landis singled to left. Hector Lopez, however, threw to the plate, permitting Landis to take second.

Ford retired Nelson Fox without an advance and then elected in a hurried conference with acting manager Ralph Houk to pitch to Minoso instead of walking him intentionally and taking a chance on Ted Kuszewski.

Minoso, who has hit safely in 38 of 46 games, promptly dropped a Texas Leaguer into center field to drive in both runners.

Bill Skowron singled home Lopez in the third inning with the Yankees' first run.

Chuck Estrada Scores 6th Victory For Baltimore, 6-1

Senators Get Six Hits Off Birds' Rookie

Seven Strike Out, Orioles Up Lead To 2½ Games

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Rookie Chuck Estrada won his sixth game against a single loss Monday night, pitching a six-hitter to help the league leading Baltimore Orioles gain a 6-1 victory over the Washington Senators.

The victory boosted the Orioles' league lead to 2½ games over the idle Cleveland Indians.

Estrada, 22, and a member of manager Paul Richards' famed "Kiddie Korps," struck out seven, walked four and hit one in hurling his third complete game in half-dozen starts. He did not permit an extra-base hit.

The only run the Senators made off Estrada came in the seventh on singles by Hal Naragon, pinch-hitter Elmer Valo and Faye Throneberry.

The Orioles rapped four Senator pitches for nine hits with lefty Jim Kaat taking the loss, his sixth against one victory. Jim Gentile drove in three tallies with a two-run double in the third and a homer in the seventh. His homer was his seventh of the year and second in two days.

The Orioles scored their fifth run without a hit in the fourth when Jack Kralick walked two and hit Woodling to load the bases. Then he walked Hansen to force in the tally.

The triumph was the Orioles' 28th in their last 40 games and earned them a split in the four-game series with the Senators, who had won the first two.

Football Is Approved For Frostburg State

State Board Votes Unanimously; Action Hailed By Hardesty

Football is now part of the athletic program at Frostburg State Teachers College and was unanimously approved yesterday afternoon by the Maryland State Board of Education which met in the library of the college.

Jerome Frampton Jr., president of the Board presided at the meeting. William L. Wilson Jr., local attorney, who recently was named a member of the Board made a motion for the reintroduction of the sport at the college. The motion was seconded by George C. Rhoderick Jr. of Middletown.

Mr. Hardesty, president of the institution, said the college will observe the football policy as recommended to the Board in a resolution passed by the faculty after careful and planned study over three years of increasing enrollment and expanding curriculum.

Before any changes in the policy are made, said Mr. Hardesty, the administration will first notify the Board. He pointed out that the college will ask for no help for equipment nor annual operations at the present time.

To Play At Beall

But in future years, he added, the college will request an economical stadium. For the present, games will be played on the Beall High School stadium, permission having been granted by Ralph Webster, superintendent of Allegany County public schools and the Board of Education of the county.

Mr. Hardesty further stated the college is located in a football area of 35 high schools in the Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia areas, 23 of which have football teams.

By offering football as part of the athletic program it seems highly possible that more students will be attracted who wish to continue participating in football during their college career.

Favored By Students

The student poll at college in which 71.5 per cent of the student body participated, 88 per cent favored implementing football in the athletic program.

Dr. Harold Cordis, basketball and track coach, stated that the present fall sport is soccer and that football would round out the athletic program.

Basketball and fencing are winter sports with track, baseball, golf and tennis as spring sports.

Mr. Hardesty said the initial cost will run about $6,000 and operational expenses at about $4,000. The college has a football fund of about $11,000.

The enrollment for this fall is at the present time 1,070 students.

Mr. Hardesty said "football would generate an esprit de corps that would envelop the entire campus and community."

"Intercollegiate football," he added, "would develop pride in our institution in a way that few other activities could do."

"In no way is it to be inferred that scholastic standards are secondary at the college. To the contrary they are of prime importance and consideration."

Enrollment To Double

"It is noted that the enrollment will have doubled by September 1 under the present administration following the raising of admission in scholastic standards."

"In fact I have recently requested the faculty to study the feasibility of advancing again the standards of scholarship," concluded Mr. Hardesty.

Chicago Sox Edge Yankees In Ninth, 3-2

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Chicago White Sox took advantage of two errors by third baseman Gil McDougald to push over a ninth inning run Monday night and run their winning streak to four games with a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees.

Luis Aparicio bounced a sharp single off McDougald's glove with the bases full and none out to bring in the decisive tally after the White Sox had loaded the bases on Sherm Lollar's infield single and a pair of errors by McDougald and Gene Freese and Al Smith.

The White Sox had gone ahead, 2-1, on a two-run single by Minnie Minoso only to have the Yankees tie the score in the last of the inning when Roger Maris hit his 15th homer of the season and his 11th in the last 19 games.

The victory went to Gerry Staley, his sixth of the season, although he pitched only one inning and served up the game-tying homer to Maris. The loser was Whitey Ford, who shut out the White Sox for seven innings before both they and his own fielders caught up to him.

The White Sox' two eighth-inning runs also were set up by a faulty play — although it was not an official error. Aparicio started the rally with a single and had third made easily when Jim Landis singled to left. Hector Lopez, however, threw to the plate, permitting Landis to take second.

Ford retired Nelson Fox without an advance and then elected in a hurried conference with acting manager Ralph Houk to pitch to Minoso instead of walking him intentionally and taking a chance on Ted Kluszewski.

Minoso, who has hit safely in 38 of 46 games, promptly dropped a Texas Leaguer into center field to drive in both runners.

Bill Skowron singled home Lopez in the third inning with the Yankees' first run.

Lions Defeat Optimists In Tenth, 11-10

Klosterman's 2-Run Triple Wins Game

Jim "Rocky" Klosterman's two-run triple in the bottom of the tenth inning after two out enabled the Lions Club to defeat the Cumberland Optimist Club last night at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 11-10 and replace the latter as the leader of the Hot Stove Baseball League.

Klosterman teed off with his team trailing 10-9 in the game's third extra inning.

The loss was the first of the season in five starts for the Optimists and dropped them into a second place tie with the Kiwanis Club.

Ronnie Shobe who followed Harper, Van Ormer and Gary Manges to the mound, pitched from the 6th through the tenth inning, and received credit for the victory, his third against no losses.

Klosterman obtained two singles in addition to his game-winning triple. Jim Hudson smacked a three-bagger and single and Don Wagner collected two singles for the victors. Larry Zimmerman homered and Billy Ronsky had a triple and single for the Optimists.

In other Hot Stove League action yesterday, B'nai B'rith edged the Bedford Road Optimists at Mason Road Field, 3-2, and the Rotary Club walloped the Jaycees, 13-3, in the game preceding the Lions-Cumberland Optimists contest at Penn Avenue Field.

Two hits coupled with an error with one out in the last of the 7th enabled Allen Cross to score with the run that gave B'nai B'rith the decision over Bedford Road's defending champions.

Cross paced the winners at the plate with three hits and Jim Willis had a pair of bingles for the losers.

Lonnie Lewis of B'nai B'rith made a sensational catch of a ground ball in the 7th inning for an unassisted third out to halt a Bedford Road scoring threat.

Tom Hamilton, Optimists' catcher, made a nice snag of a foul ball, and Carl Morrison excelled at short for the losers.

John Roy tossed a three-hitter, fanned eight and hit a three-run homer in the first inning as the Rotary Club downed the Jaycees.

Gary Elliott, Terry Lease and Dave Merrill shared six of the eight hits credited to Lonnie Jackson's club.

Senators Want Birds' Sunday Win Ruled Out

Washington Protests Ejection Of Ramos

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Senators Monday demanded that American League President Joe Cronin throw out Baltimore's 6-5 Sunday victory and order a replay on grounds the umpires permitted the game to "get out of hand."

Manager Cookie Lavagetto and Washington President Calvin Griffith formally protested the action of Umpire-in-chief Bill McKinley in ejecting pitcher Pedro Ramos from the game in the fourth inning.

Ramos was thrown out after a running argument with Baltimore Manager Paul Richards, who accused him of throwing a spitball.

Floyd Patterson Tips Beam At 194

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson weighed 194 pounds Monday when he underwent a routine physical examination at the state athletic commission.

The former heavyweight champion wore only pants and socks when he stepped on the scales. Patterson weighed 182 pounds when he lost his title on a third round technical knockout to Sweden's Ingemar Johansson last June 26.

Patterson wants to be heavier—between 196 and 198 pounds—for his return bout with Johansson at the Polo Grounds, June 20.

Jockeys Ycaza, Cole Given Suspensions

NEW YORK (AP)—Jockeys Manuel Ycaza and Signey Cole Sunday were suspended for 10 days effective Wednesday for riding infractions on Saturday at Belmont Park.

Ycaza, frequently in hot water with the stewards, drew his 10-day enforced vacation for a jam he created in the fourth race which led to the disqualification of his mount, Almitara, from second place.

Cole was penalized for crossing over and causing interference in the backstretch of the eighth race.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Slavko Nicholas Krnjav, who passed away 19 years ago June 7, 1941.
Since we were first and last left to

And many hours have passed,
I can still feel your love me,
My hand in your last clasps

Market Rises To Highest Point Since Late January

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks, 100,000 to market valuations. Trading declined somewhat on the rise to 3,220,000 shares from 3,340,000 shares on Friday. A total of 1,222 issues appeared on the tape, and of these 683 advanced, 55 to new highs, and 337 declined, 29 to new lows.

Steel issues responded to expectations of a rise in the operating rate for the first time in four weeks. Youngstown added more than 5, National 4, U. S. Steel nearly 3, and Republic, Bethlehem and Lukens more than 2.

Chrysler rose 2 1/2 in the autos where Ford picked up a point, and General Motors and American Motors firmed.

Board Reports
State Teacher
Supply Is Grave

Groups Convene
At Frostburg

The teacher supply in the State of Maryland is extremely grave, according to a report given yesterday when superintendents of county schools met at Frostburg State Teachers College.

The report was presented by the State Board of Education at the meeting of the Board and superintendents in the college library.

Jerome Framptom Jr., president of the Board, presided at the meeting. Besides Mr. Framptom at the meeting were Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools and secretary-treasurer of the Board; Mrs. Kenneth S. Cole, Chevy Chase; Mrs. J. Wilmer Cronin, Aberdeen; George C. Rhoderick Jr., Middletown; Richard A. Schifter, Bethesda; and William L. Wilson Jr. of Cumberland.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of Allegany County schools is head of the superintendents.

The Board also approved unanimously the request of Frostburg State Teachers College to adopt football into its athletic program.

The theme for the superintendents meeting was "Teacher Need and Supply in Maryland Public Schools."

According to the report, public schools have seen an increased enrollment of 121,914 pupils in the past five years or an increase of 27.9 per cent.

Some counties had an increased enrollment of 57 per cent. This tremendous growth has created a serious problem in providing teachers for the additional class rooms necessary to take care of the youngsters.

Since no leveling off of this teacher need can be foreseen, about 1,200 teachers will be needed each year to take care of the increase in the number of pupils over the previous year.

It was pointed out that the five state teachers colleges supplied the schools with 534 teachers in 1959. With the aid of other teacher training institutions in Maryland it was anticipated that about 43 per cent of teachers needed will be provided by all of these institutions by 1965.

New teachers will have to be recruited from other states, which also have the same problem, or according to the superintendents, the teaching professions will have to be made more attractive through higher salaries.

Another problem facing the superintendents is the high number of retirements that will take place in the next 10 years creating a greater demand for new teachers.

Sunday's record crowd of 930 included 417 adults and 513 children. The next highest attendance during recent years was the high of 858 last year.

The pool will be open during the summer holidays from noon until 9 p. m. on weekdays and from 1 to 9 p. m. on Sundays. Adult admission will be 35 cents and children 15 cents.

Charles Smith, a member of the Fort Hill High School faculty, will be managing the pool this year.

New Housing
Rules To Be
Proposed Here

The City Health Board was told yesterday that copies of a proposed new housing ordinance for Cumberland will be available for study soon.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer and secretary of the board, said health, police, fire, engineering and legal officials will be asked to review the proposals.

The proposed housing ordinance, he said, would set up an all-inclusive set of rules on housing.

Problems of undesirable housing and its social aspects were discussed at the meeting held in City Hall with Mayor J. Edwin Keech presiding.

Dr. Ralph W. Ballin, medical member, noted that parking on North Liberty Street makes it difficult sometimes for fire trucks to use the street.

The problem was referred to Fire Chief Virgil Parker for consultation with Police Chief B. F. Gaffney.

The board said there is no change in its policy on weeds. The policy calls for owners to clean weeds from vacant lots, occupants to keep down weeds on their premises and for the city to take care of city-owned properties and alleys.

Also attending were City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, J. B. Dowling, sanitarian, and John Reeves, Westernport medical student.

SHIRLEY GREEN

Rites Tomorrow
For Small Girl
Who Drowned

Shirley Green, 7,
Trapped In Auto

Services for seven-year-old Shirley Green of Frostburg, who accidentally drowned Sunday night in Deep Creek Lake, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Durst Funeral Home, Frostburg.

Edward Hunter of the Gospel Hall in Grahamtown, will officiate and burial will be in Sunset Memorial Park, Cumberland.

The youngster, who was drowned when the car in which she was sitting plunged into the lake, was a daughter of Mrs. Shirley Green, 216 West Main Street, Frostburg, and Arthur Green, National.

Maryland State Police said the unusual drowning case occurred at 10:30 p. m., and that the child was pronounced dead on arrival at 11 p. m. at Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland.

Cpl. Sam Conrad of the State Police finally pulled the youngster from the flooded car after two other attempts to free her had failed.

Police said Mrs. Green and her daughter had driven to visit friends near Point View on the Lake. The woman had stopped the car and alighted from it when the brakes gave away, and the auto went over a steep embankment into 15 to 20 feet of water.

Police said little Shirley, a second grade student at Beall Elementary School, was inside the car. Mrs. Green tried to grab the vehicle, but was unable to stop it and was thrown to the ground.

The headlights of the vehicle were still on and an unidentified man took a boat onto the lake in an effort to rescue the child.

Two other men, James H. Gentry, of Lonaconing, and Walter Croft, of West Mifflin, Pa., near Pittsburgh, jumped to the high waters, but were unable to find an opening in the vehicle.

As soon as Cpl. Conrad arrived on the scene, he leaped into the water, found a window in the car open, and pulled the child to the shore line. Mr. Gentry and Cpl. Conrad administered first aid until an ambulance arrived.

Has Seven Brothers, Sisters

Police continued trying to retrieve the child during the trip to the Oakland hospital, however without success.

Police said a number of men attempted to hook a cable onto the rear of the car, however experienced trouble in pulling the vehicle to shore.

Besides her parents, she is survived by five brothers, Charles, William, Allen, Daniel and John, all at home, and two sisters, Arlene Green, at home, and Mrs. Jean Emart, of Clinton, Tenn.

Home From Hospital

Mrs. C. William McDermott, 850 Gephart Drive, has returned home from Memorial Hospital.

Fair weather is in store for 125 key personnel of the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks, who will attend a four-day forest fire training session which opens today at Herrington Manor in Garrett County.

William H. Johnson, assistant state forester, said last night that the initial session gets underway this morning at 8:30 at which time Joseph Kaylor, director of the department, will give the opening address.

Afterwards H. C. Buckingham, state forester, will speak on the department's budget. Mr. Johnson will then take over the meeting and introduce Colonel Peter Vander Lugt, of Annapolis, property custodian and safety officer of the department. His topic of discussion will be safety.

Also expected to talk during this morning's session are Robert Creaghan, training officer of the Civil Defense Agency in Maryland and William Chenoweth, assistant training officer and coordinator of the western area of the state.

They will give a review of last year's program in reference to radiation and they will check over radiological instruments of the CD Agency assigned to the fire service of the forestry department.

Four Classes

This afternoon the foresters will be divided into four classes with about 26 men to each group. During 45 minute instructions they will learn about:

The operation and maintenance of portable power pumps; maintenance and operation of tractor and fire plows; operation and maintenance of high pressure pump mounted on jeeps and the maintenance and operation of Panama pumps, which are mounted on small trucks and operated from the fan belt of the vehicles.

From 4:30 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. there will be demonstrations on the use of sodium borate as a fire retardant. A luncheon will be served at 12:30 p. m. today and dinner will be served at 6 p. m.

At 8:30 p. m. a program of entertainment will be presented by District Four at the Bel Air section. It will be a humorous satire on forestry personnel of that district. Each year a district of the state puts on the show.

Preparation of the training program was under the direction of Mr. Johnson and Paul H. Seward, forest fire supervisor for District Four.

Report Cites
Unemployment
In 91 Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department Monday released the first of a series of regular reports on areas suffering from substantial and chronic unemployment. The initial list contains 91 areas, including Cumberland, Hagerstown and Cambridge, Md.

The Labor Department's bureau of employment security said the listing every two months will "identify those areas where high unemployment has been a relatively persistent problem over most of the last few years."

Presumably most such areas would be eligible for help under any federal depressed area aid program that may be enacted by Congress. A bill passed this year was vetoed by President Eisenhower as too broad.

The bureau said areas so listed must have at least 6 per cent current unemployment and meet one of the three tests on the severity of past unemployment.

These tests are that average past unemployment must have been (1) at least 50 per cent above the national average for 3 of the preceding 4 calendar years, or (2) at least 75 per cent above the national average for 2 of the 3 preceding calendar years, or (3) at least 100 per cent above the national average for one of the two preceding calendar years.

The list of smaller areas with more than 6 per cent unemployment was increased from 109 to 113. The additions included Dover, Del.

Board Reports
State Teacher
Supply Is Grave

Groups Convene
At Frostburg

The teacher supply in the State of Maryland is extremely grave, according to a report given yesterday when superintendents of county schools met at Frostburg State Teachers College.

The report was presented by the State Board of Education at the meeting of the Board and superintendents in the college library.

Jerome Frampton Jr., president of the Board, presided at the meeting. Besides Mr. Frampton at the meeting were Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools and secretary-treasurer of the Board; Mrs. Kenneth S. Cole, Chevy Chase; Mrs. J. Wilmer Cronin, Aberdeen; George C. Rhoderick Jr., Middletown; Richard A. Schifter, Bethesda; and William L. Wilson Jr. of Cumberland.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of Allegany County schools is head of the superintendents.

The Board also approved unanimously the request of Frostburg State Teachers College to adopt football into its athletic program.

The theme for the superintendents meeting was "Teacher Need and Supply in Maryland Public Schools." According to the report, public schools have seen an increased enrollment of 121,914 pupils in the past five years or an increase of 27.9 per cent.

Some counties had an increased enrollment of 57 per cent. This tremendous growth has created a serious problem in providing teachers for the additional class rooms necessary to take care of the youngsters.

Since no leveling off of this teacher need can be foreseen, about 1,200 teachers will be needed each year to take care of the increase in the number of pupils over the previous year.

It was pointed out that the five state teachers colleges supplied the schools with 534 teachers in 1959. With the aid of other teacher training institutions in Maryland it was anticipated that about 43 per cent of teachers needed will be provided by all of these institutions by 1965.

New teachers will have to be recruited from other states, which also have the same problem, or according to the superintendents, the teaching professions will have to be made more attractive through higher salaries.

Another problem facing the superintendents is the high number of retirements that will take place in the next 10 years creating a greater demand for new teachers.

New Housing
Rules To Be
Proposed Here

The City Health Board was told yesterday that copies of a proposed new housing ordinance for Cumberland will be available for study soon.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer and secretary of the board, said health, police, fire, engineering and legal officials will be asked to review the proposals.

The proposed housing ordinance, he said, would set up an all-inclusive set of rules on housing.

Problems of undesirable housing and its social aspects were discussed at the meeting held in City Hall with Mayor J. Edwin Keech presiding.

Dr. Ralph W. Ballin, medical member, noted that parking on North Liberty Street makes it difficult sometimes for fire trucks to use the street.

The problem was referred to Fire Chief Virgil Parker for consultation with Police Chief B. F. Gaffney.

The board said there is no change in its policy on weeds. The policy calls for owners to clean weeds from vacant lots, occupants to keep down weeds on their premises and for the city to take care of city-owned properties and alleys.

Also attending were City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, J. B. Dowling, sanitarian, and John Reeves, Westernport medical student.

SHIRLEY GREEN

Rites Tomorrow
For Small Girl
Who Drowned

Shirley Green, 7,
Trapped In Auto

Services for seven-year-old Shirley Green of Frostburg, who accidentally drowned Sunday night in Deep Creek Lake, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Durst Funeral Home, Frostburg.

Edward Hunter of the Gospel Hall in Grahamtown, will officiate and burial will be in Sunset Memorial Park, Cumberland.

The youngster, who was drowned when the car in which she was sitting plunged into the lake, was a daughter of Mrs. Shirley Green, 216 West Main Street, Frostburg, and Arthur Green, National.

Maryland State Police said the unusual drowning case occurred at 10:30 p. m., and that the child was pronounced dead on arrival at 11 p. m. at Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland.

Cpl. Sam Conrad of the State Police finally pulled the youngster from the flooded car after two other attempts to free her had failed.

Police said Mrs. Green and her daughter had driven to visit friends near Point View on the Lake. The woman had stopped the car and alighted from it when the brakes gave way, and the auto went over a steep embankment into 15 to 20 feet of water.

Police said little Shirley, a second grade student at Beall Elementary School, was inside the car. Mrs. Green tried to grab the vehicle, but was unable to stop it and was thrown to the ground.

The headlights of the vehicle were still on and an unidentified man took a boat onto the lake in an effort to rescue the child.

Two other men, James H. Gentry, of Lonaconing, and Walter Croft, of West Mifflin, Pa., near Pittsburgh, jumped to the high waters, but were unable to find an opening in the vehicle.

As soon as Cpl. Conrad arrived on the scene, he leaped into the water, found a window in the car open, and pulled the child to the shore line. Mr. Gentry and Cpl. Conrad administered first aid until an ambulance arrived.

Has Seven Brothers, Sisters
Gentry continued trying to revive the child during the trip to the Oakland hospital, however without success.

Police said a number of men attempted to hook a cable onto the rear of the car, however experienced trouble in pulling the vehicle to shore.

Besides her parents, she is survived by five brothers, Charles, William, Allen, Daniel and John, all at home, and two sisters, Arlene Green, at home, and Mrs. Jean Emart, of Clinton, Tenn.

Home From Hospital

Mrs. C. William McDermott, 850 Gephart Drive, has returned home from Memorial Hospital.

State Forestry

Fire Training

Four-Day Session
Begins Today

Fair weather is in store for 125 key personnel of the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks, who will attend a four-day forest fire training session which opens today at Herrington Manor in Garrett County.

William H. Johnson, assistant state forester, said last night that the initial session gets underway this morning at 8:30 at which time Joseph Kaylor, director of the department, will give the opening address.

Talk Or Budget
Afterwards H. C. Buckingham, state forester, will speak on the department's budget. Mr. Johnson will then take over the meeting and introduce Colonel Peter Vander Lugt, of Annapolis, property custodian and safety officer of the department. His topic of discussion will be safety.

Also expected to talk during this morning's session are Robert Craghan, training officer of the Civil Defense Agency in Maryland and William Chomeweth, assistant training officer and coordinator of the western area of the state.

They will give a review of last year's program in reference to radiation and they will check over radiological instruments of the CD Agency assigned to the fire service of the forestry department.

Four Classes
This afternoon the foresters will be divided into four classes with about 26 men to each group. During 45 minute instructions they will learn about:

The operation and maintenance of portable power pumps; maintenance and operation of tractor and fire plows; operation and maintenance of high pressure pump mounted on jeeps and the maintenance and operation of Panama pumps, which are mounted on small trucks and operated from the fan belt of the vehicles.

From 4:30 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. there will be demonstrations on the use of sodium borate as a fire retardant. A luncheon will be served at 12:30 p. m. today and dinner will be served at 6 p. m.

At 8:30 p. m. a program of entertainment will be presented by District Four at the Bel Air section. It will be a humorous satire on forestry personnel of that district. Each year a district of the state puts on the show.

Preparation of the training program was under the direction of Mr. Johnson and Paul H. Seward, forest fire supervisor for District Four.

Report Cites
Unemployment
In 91 Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department Monday released the first of a series of regular reports on areas suffering from substantial and chronic unemployment. The initial list contains 91 areas, including Cumberland, Hagerstown and Cambridge, Md.

The Labor Department's bureau of employment security said the listing every two months will "identify those areas where high unemployment has been a relatively persistent problem over most of the last few years."

Presumably most such areas would be eligible for help under any federal depressed area aid program that may be enacted by Congress. A bill passed this year was vetoed by President Eisenhower as too broad.

The bureau said areas so listed must have at least 6 per cent current unemployment and meet one of the three tests on the severity of past unemployment.

These tests are that average past unemployment must have been (1) at least 50 per cent above the national average for 3 of the preceding 4 calendar years, (2) at least 75 per cent above the national average for 2 of the 3 preceding calendar years, or (3) at least 100 per cent above the national average for one of the two preceding calendar years.

The list of smaller areas with more than 6 per cent unemployment was increased from 109 to 113. The additions included Dover, Del.
